

ABOUT US

Billwin, it all began with manufacture of protective and waterproof wears, reinforced with a deep seated commitment towards quality and price-efficiency. Initially, the products manufactured by us included Slicker Suits, Rain Jackets, Rain Suits and raincoats for industries and individuals. Subsequently, due to the demand for other products, Billwin expanded its portfolio to include, winter garments like padded and fleece lined jackets, overcoats and windcheaters.

Given the growth in popularity of adventure sports, protective gears, wears and accessories became but a natural choice for extending our manufacturing expertise. Soon, our products such as Rucksacks, sleeping bags etc. grabbed the attention of the markets. We also introduced inflatable boats, and life jackets, and artificial water ponds.

Today, with immense industry experience and quality consciousness, our company is recognized as one of the largest manufacturers, exporters and suppliers of such products.

Our Manufacturing Process

There are different stages that are involved in our manufacturing process, each stage is crucial and of utmost importance for the product to have its required quality and standard. We ensure quality control check at each of the manufacturing stages. Our manufacturing process consists of the following stages:

STEP 1: The company procures raw materials used in the manufacturing process from china. the raw material which is imported from china is called as the Coated Fibre and it is the major raw material which is been used in the manufacturing process.

STEP 2: After importing the raw material the company conducts a extensive quality check activity to ensure that only good quality of raw materials is processed, once the raw materials is tested and it is approved the same is then sent for designing.

STEP 3: The selected coated fabric post quality check is processed by the designing team to construct the designs on the coated fabric and give them a desired design as required for the product.

STEP 4: Postcutting of fabric as per the designated design it is then inserted into a stitching machine, the stitching process is then been carried out by this machine and the fabric is stitched from all side and it finally takes the shape of the designated product.

STEP 5: The Stitched fabric is then inserted into another machine known as Seam Sealing Machine, the fabric in this machine is sealed together and the this process provides the extra strength to the product.

STEP 6:The products coming out of Seam Sealing Machine is almost a final product, once the final product is ready it goes under extreme quality check again. And if the product passes the quality check then it is send for packaging.

STEP 7: The Finished goods is then packed according to the requirement for the Clients and are Dispatched to the Clients.
